Foreword...

Hi folks! We are Think 4 Brum - a board of young people who are 'Experts by Experience'. We work with Birmingham Women's and Children's Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust to help improve services for other young people like ourselves.

Things right now are tough, especially for young people who are already poorly. It's okay if you're struggling at the moment.

As a youthboard, we realised we have the platform to raise and empower young people's voices at a time when we are being pushed aside by the media.

Our feelings are valid and we deserve to be heard.

We've put together a Survival Guide for especially for young people during the Coronavirus situation. We recognise that not everything in this Guide will be suitable for everyone; and that's okay. This is just a collection of things you might find helpful.

Remember, we're all in this together!

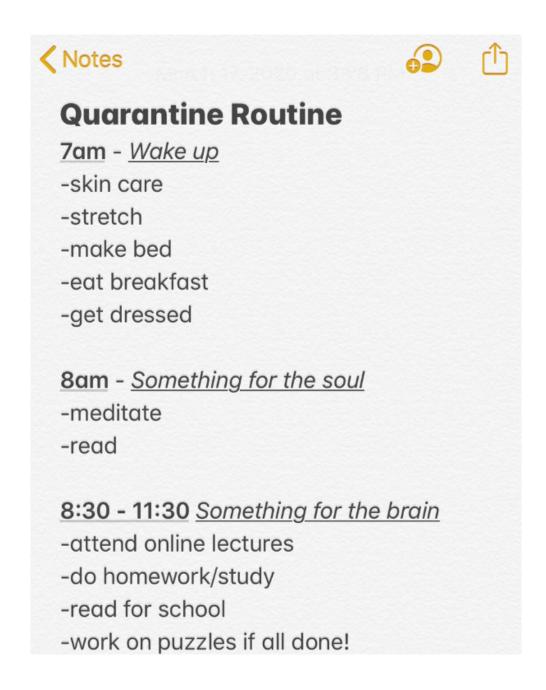

Love,

Think 4 Brum x

My Daily Plan...

Sometimes, having a clear schedule (like you would at school or college) can be really helpful in planning your day. Below is an example by Twitter user @plntbasedcutie, who shared her quarantine routine...

12:00-1:00pm - Lunchtime 1:00-1:30nm - Spend time outside Ch -re Advisory Group 1:30-2:30 - Something for the body Choose one: -yoga -HIIT -bike -treadmill -body weight/weight training 2:30-3:00- Something productive -Chores Choose one: -clean out drawers -clean/whiten shoes -wash makeup brushes 3:00-4:00pm- Something for the heart -hobbies Choose one: -bake -paint -garden -read for pleasure -cook

4:00-6:00pm - Something fun

- -be lazy (netflix, movies etc.)
- -board games
- -social media

6:00-7:00pm - Dinner time!!

9:00-10:00pm- Winding down

- -take sleeping pill/vitamins
- -shower
- -face mask
- -journal
- -express gratitude
- -sleep by 10

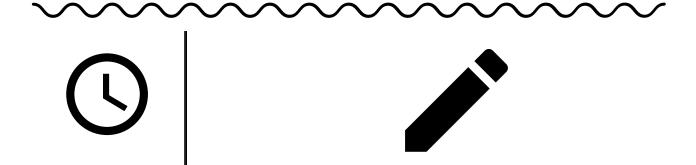

You can create your own daily routine based on what works for you! Routines are designed to be flexible, so try not to put too much pressure on yourself to stick to it exactly - it's okay to have a lie-in or chill for a bit! This is just to help give you a sense of control and stability.

Feel free to print out the following page as many times as you'd like, or create your own plan from scratch!

Things you can do to help...

We can all feel a bit useless during something like this, but there is always something you can do to help, no matter how small! These are just a few of our ideas...

- Try not to stockpile! It's normal to be a bit worried about having the things you really need, but stockpiling makes it harder for everyone!
- Offer to do some shopping for those most at risk, such as the elderly or people with existing health conditions. You can order their groceries online and have them delivered to their door if you are in isolation too, as some older people may find it difficult to shop online.
- Check up on your grandparents or older relatives by giving them a call or a Facetime!

Donate to or volunteer at a foodbank if you are able to. Lots of foodbank volunteers are pensioners, putting them in the higher risk category, so you can make a huge difference by helping out if you are well enough. If you aren't, donate what you can to your local foodbank.

Use social media for good! Whether it's an uplifting message or a funny video, it's the little things that can make a big difference to those struggling. Help put a smile on someone's face!

Stuff to do...

Life during isolation can be boriiiing here are some things you can do to keep the boredom at bay!

Start gardening and grow your own veg! Things like potatoes, garlic cloves, onion bulbs, beetroot and peppers can be put directly in soil - no shop-bought seeds needed!

Build a den inside or outside and have a picnic!

Call or Facetime your friends and family, especially those who are particularly isolated or vulnerable into withdrawing themselves.

Go for a walk - this might take a little bit of planning, but as long as you keep your distance from others, a bit of exercise will do wonders!

Put on a play of a well known story or fairytale with props or costumes from things in the house or garden

Google how to make bubbles or play dough from scratch!

Have a treasure hunt in the garden or around the house!

Water your plants! Or grow some new ones with cuttings

Unfollow everyone and everything that makes you sad.

Write a letter to your future self.

Write a song about anything at all!

Do a jigsaw - the more pieces the better! Bonus points if you include other family members too;)

Visit Mars from your bedroom! https://accessmars.withgoogle.com/#

Make a house for your toys out of cardboard boxes and sticky tape!

Reminders...

Remember, there's no pressure to do everything at once. Some things in this Survival Guide might not feel right for you - that's okay! We designed this as a collection of resources and ideas so you can pick and choose whatever floats your boat! You don't have to reinvent yourself or learn six new languages. Just surviving this uncertain time is a big enough achievement.

MY LIFE IS NOT ON HOLD. THINGS MIGHT LOOK DIFFERENT RIGHT NOW, BUT I'M STILL MAKING PROGRESS TOWARDS THE PERSON I WANT TO BECOME.

@psychalive

Be kind to your body. If you're sleeping in longer than usual, taking more naps, and not sticking to your schedule that is ok. Listen to what your body needs.

Debunking COVID19 info...

Tips on keeping safely informed

To be safe, be tactical:

- Use sources that you trust, like CBBC Newsround
- Ask your parents, doctors, nurses or other people who look after you if you're worried about something you have read or seen on the news
- Take care of yourself, your health is more important!

It's okay to not know, but you can control what you do know and where you get your information from. Step away if you need to; ignore it if you need to. That's perfectly okay.

You can do this by reinforcing social boundaries...

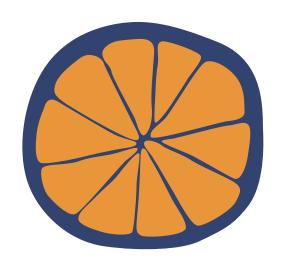

Social boundaries: code for communicating...

During times like this, communication is key to keeping our health in check - but sometimes that is hard. Here is a helpful 'code' for you and friends, created by Think 4 Brum Chairperson, Heather, so you can let people know what you do and don't want to talk about.

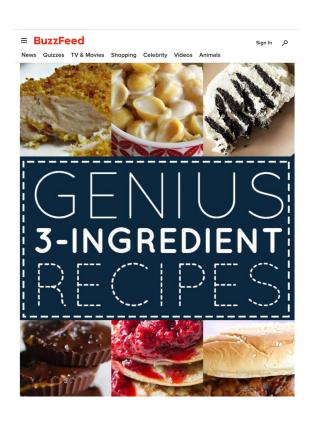

You're allowed to say no to conversations about Coronavirus

Really Easy Recipes...

Maintaining a healthy, balanced diet when you're stuck at home all day can be tough. There are loads of places online where you can find hundreds of cheap, basic, store cupboard and vegan and veggie recipes with loads of room for substituting ingredients, such as Jack Monroe's website!

Check out https://cookingonabootstrap.com/ for more!

Buzzfeed have lots of great simple and easy articles. YouTube is filled with chefs. Tasty can satisfy every food need too!

Here are some websites that find and create recipes for you - just enter what ingredients you have in your cupboard, and they will do the rest!

#BiteBackLunchList...

Here is the #BiteBackLunchList created by Jamie Oliver, which contains quick and simple recipes and can be eaten hot or cold. The list was originally created for families accessing Free School Meals. They only cost £15 a week which is equivalent to the £15 voucher that the government is giving to families of children accessing Free School Meals. However, these are all cheap and healthy meal ideas for anyone using minimal ingredients.

 Sliced wholemeal loaf (400g) 	£0.79
Baked beans in tomato sauce	£0.30
(reduced salt and sugar if available)
 A block of store brand cheddar cheese (220g) 	£1.55
• Store brand sweetcorn in water (325-380g)	£0.50
 Store brand tuna chunks or salmon in spring water (3 X 80g) 	£2.00
Store brand couscous	£0.45
Store brand lower fat mayonnaise	£0.90
or light cream cheese (400-500g)
Shredded iceberg lettuce (140g)	£0.69
• Clementines x 1	£0.24
• Store brand bag of mini apples x 6	£0.62
• Loose tomatoes x 1	£0.28
6 large free-range eggs	£1.20
• Jacket potatoes (700g)	£0.58
 2pt semi-skimmed milk 	£0.80
 Crunchy peanut butter 	£0.85
• Loose bananas x 3	£0.39
 Greek-style yoghurt (500g) 	£0.69
• Sliced chicken (240g)	£1.99

Whilst these options may not be suitable for everyone (especially if your doctors have set you a strict meal plan), it always helps to have a few options as a go-to, and you can adapt the ideas with whatever you have lying around!

Sleep Hygiene...

Tips for getting a good night's sleep

- Have a routine time schedule for sleeping
- Use sleep assisting apps (check out the bedtime function in the clock app!)
- If you have a phone, charge it at a plug far from your bed
- Have minimal light on whilst in bed
- Try to wind down (breathing exercises, simple stretches)

Try to get some form of movement throughout the day

• Dont stay in bed all day if you're able to

Things to give you hope...

Students who have had their end of year GCSE and A Level Exams cancelled.

Do not be disheartened. Keep Believing.

You WILL receive the recognition your hard work deserves.

You will achieve and reach your destination.

Have faith in your Teachers.

We're not giving up on YOU

"These are the dark times, but they don't sustain. Darkness never sustains, even though sometimes it feels like it might."

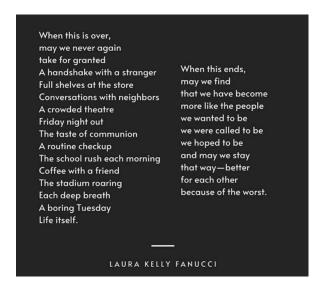

Everyday I am waking up and reminding myself of what I CAN DO rather than what I can't. It's small but it's pretty powerful.

It is OK to be worried about yourself and your loved ones. You can also care about other people.

It's also OK to be upset about your cancelled holiday or social events or whatever.

"Other people have it worse" is a terrible reason not to let yourself feel your feelings.

The most beautiful words I've heard yet to inspire & fill your lungs with love .

"Yes there is fear.
Yes there is isolation.
Yes there is panic buying.
Yes there is sickness.
Yes there is even death.
But....

They say that in Wuhan after so many years of noise You can hear the birds again. They say that after just a few weeks of quiet The sky is no longer thick with fumes

But blue and grey and clear.

They say that in the streets of Assisi
People are singing to each other
across the empty squares,
keeping their windows open
so that those who are alone may hear the sounds of family around them.

Today a young woman I know is busy spreading fliers with her number through the neighbourhood
So that the elders may have someone to call on

Today Churches, Synagogues, Mosques and Temples are preparing to welcome and shelter the homeless, the sick, the weary

All over the world people are slowing down and reflecting

All over the world people are looking at their neighbours in a new way

All over the world people are waking up to a new reality

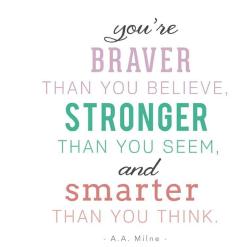

To how big we really are.

To how little control we really have.

To what really matters.

To Love.

So we pray and we remember that Yes there is fear.
But there does not have to be hate.
Yes there is isolation.
But there does not have to be loneliness.

To anyone who has a kid with exams swiped from under them, please PLEASE remind that learning lasts forever. All their work, all their skills and knowledge, that's theirs, to keep. Exams are a day and a grade. Don't let them lose that the LEARNING was what mattered.

Citizens of Wuhan can finally hear birds chirping after years, Venice's water canals are clear and full of fish, and you can even see the Tatra mountains from Kraków because the smog has lifted.

This isn't an apocalypse. It's an awakening.

A final message from US...

We will be okay. We will get through this. This will pass maybe not as quickly as we would like it to, but it will pass.

This is probably the hardest thing many of our generation will have to face, but we are a generation built on and through resilience. We all hold that power within us.

There are people out there who understand and who want to listen. Reach out to them.

One day, when we are old and grey, we will remember this strange time and we will say - we survived.

@FGRLSCLUB

AND THE PEOPLE STAYED HOME. AND READ BOOKS, AND LISTENED, AND RESTED, AND EXERCISED, AND MADE ART, AND PLAYED GAMES, AND LEARNED NEW WAYS OF BEING, AND WERE STILL. AND LISTENED MORE DEEPLY. SOME MEDITATED, SOME PRAYED, SOME DANCED. SOME MET THEIR SHADOWS. AND THE PEOPLE BEGAN TO THINK DIFFERENTLY. AND THE PEOPLE HEALED. AND, IN THE ABSENCE OF PEOPLE LIVING IN IGNORANT, DANGEROUS, MINDLESS, AND HEARTLESS WAYS, THE EARTH BEGAN TO HEAL. AND WHEN THE DANGER PASSED, AND THE PEOPLE JOINED TOGETHER AGAIN, THEY GRIEVED THEIR LOSSES, AND MADE NEW CHOICES, AND DREAMED NEW IMAGES, AND CREATED NEW WAYS TO LIVE AND HEAL THE EARTH FULLY, AS THEY HAD BEEN HEALED.

AND THE PEOPLE STAYED HOME....
~ KITTY O'MEARA

Look how much you've already managed to adapt to look how resilient you've already been. There's no "right" way to respond to this because it's never, ever happened before. Give yourself some credit. There's no one in the whole world who has this figured out yet.

So it's absolutely okay if you don't either of mellow doodles it.
